THE COMING OF BETTER THINGS

The case of private Will brings to mind the punishment of Commander McCalla, of the United States navy—commander of the Enterprise—for unjustly and so severely punishing some of his men. He was on a long cruise, and in consequence of his harsh treatment some of his men were on the point of mutiny, and for this he inflicted what the court martial judged to be inhuman treatment, and therefore unworthy an officer of the American navy. One paper is reporting the case said:

The extremities to which Commander McCalla was reduced in his desperate attempt to justify his conduct during his protracted cruise were revealed when he employed the most brilliant advocate of this town to conduct his defense before the court-martial. Every plea which could be urged in exoneration of his heartless and irrational methods of punishing his men and enforcing discipline was most ingeniously and eloquently presented. The court was so far influenced by Mr. Choate's special pleading as to make a recommendation to the secretary for the exercise of clemency in the execution of the sentence, but its judgment was grounded upon the evidence which bore heavily against the commander. The secretary of the navy is an estate commander, and he knows how much weight is to be attached to recommendations of this nature. He has not allowed sentimental considerations based largely on the sympathies of the judges for a colleague in disgrace to break the force of their deliberate verdict upon the evidence. He has wisely declined to mitigate the sentence in the slightest degree.

The sentence of the court was that Commander McCalla be suspended from rank and duty for three years with the privilege of others below him in rank to pass him in promotion during the term of the sentence. It is creditable to Secretary Tracy that he allowed the judgment of the court to stand. It will have a wholesome effect on the officers of the service who think that enlisted men have no rights which they are bound to respect.

The days of the old-fashioned cruelty in the army and navy are passed. There are better days ahead, a Christian manhood in the service, and the government seems determined to protect the rights of the men who do a humble but important service for little compensation.

An Ohio man has done a good thing for his country and his flag. Mr. Caldwell, of that state, has introduced a bill in congress which provides that any person who shall disgrace the flag either by printing on it or attaching to it any advertisement for public display shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. For this offense the punishment is to be a fine of $50 or thirty days' imprisonment, or both, at the discretion of the court. This bill is a good one. The principle involved in it is one of patriotism. There are too many people of a greedy nature that want to turn the American flag to unwholesome uses, such as making an advertising sheet out of it—putting thereon the names of baking powder, lightning soap, soda eradicator, and such like stuff. The object of the Caldwell bill is to prevent the flag from being desecrated in this manner.

The star of hope seems to be rising in Mississippi. The other day some white-caps were bent on burning a negro to death in his own house, and to defend himself he fired into the mob and killed one of the villains and wounded two others. There is some hope for colored people in the south when they have the courage to defend themselves and their homes in such a fashion as that.

When Senator Quay gets ready he will likely pick the biggest wind-bag on the continent.—Inter Ocean.

If Senator Quay was a wise man and wanted to do himself and the republican party a good service, he would prick that wind-bag without delay.

The Wisconsin democracy is in a state of unrest. It is borrowing trouble because the republican papers are not fighting each other on the educational law issue.

Highest of American Peaks.

"The highest mountain in America" must now be changed from Mount St. Elias to Mount Wrangell, a little to the north of the former peak. Several of these mountains have been newly measured. Mount Hood, once "roughly" estimated at 15,000 feet, then "closely" at 16,000, was brought down by triangulation to 13,000. An aneroid barometer made it 12,000, and a mercurial barometer made it 11,225. Mount St. Elias, estimated by D'Eglogat at 12,672 feet, was triangulated by Mr. Baker at 13,500. It now appears that Mount Wrangell rises 18,400 feet above Copper river, which is in turn 2,000 feet above the sea level at that point. If this holds good Mount Wrangell is a good 2,000 feet higher than any other peak in North America and has the distinction of being within the United States besides

One of Them Shot—C. G. Reynolds, the New York Lawyer Shot by Young Stephani, is Dead.

POTTS CAMP, Miss., May 21.—A terrible and bloody tragedy was enacted several miles south of this place to-day. Two farmers, both well and popularly known, had a difficulty over a trifling matter—a few hundred staves—and the result was a murder outrage. The combatants were W. L. Woodruff and C. G. Reynolds. The controversy over the staves waxed warm and the men came to blows. Woodruff made an effort to get his weapon, but Morgan was too quick for him, firing a heavy load of buckshot into his face and head, from the effects of which he died in a short time. Morgan then left, but was afterwards captured. Woodruff and Morgan were neighbors and had been good friends. Woodruff married the daughter of the Hon. Robert L. Greer, who for many years before the war was a leading figure in Mississippi politics, serving with distinction in both branches of the Legislature.

CONFESSED TO A BOLD CRIME.

The Man Who Robbed a Denver Bank of $21,000 Supposed to be Under Arrest.

DENVER, Colo., May 21.—March 28, 1889, a young man walked into the office of President Moffatt, at the First National bank, and covered him with a huge revolver, displayed a bottle, presumably containing a deadly explosive, and demanded $21,000. Mr. Moffatt was startled, but he called for his clerk to get the bills, the stranger following and holding the revolver almost against the president's back, but concealed by an overcoat carried over his arm. The stranger then handed the money and disappeared. Detectives have been busy working for $2,500 reward ever since.

The prisoner answers the description of a telegram from Clayton near St. Louis, Mo., that a prisoner there had confessed to the Moffatt robbery and offered corroborative evidence of his guilt.

The prisoner answers the description of C. J. Wells, the name given by Moffatt's caller. He has been arrested in Missouri for stealing a valuable team of horses. He claims that a large part of the Moffatt robbery is hidden and that a pal knows about it.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY AT CRESTON.

R. H. Dillon Severely Punished by an Outraged Husband.

CRESTON, Iowa, May 21.—W. F. Barton, a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy engineer, assaulted R. H. Dillon, a Creston liquor dealer, near the postoffice, pounding him severely on the head and face with a club. Dillon's alleged intimacy with Barton's wife is said to be the reason of the attack. Barton pleaded guilty to assault and battery in a justice court and paid his fine. He was then arrested on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, and is out under bonds. Dillon is in a critical condition and it is said can not live.

C. G. REYNOLDS DEAD.

The New York Lawyer Shot by Young Stephani Expires.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Lawyer Clinton G. Reynolds died in the Chambers street hospital at 3 o'clock this morning. The lawyer died from a pistol shot wound which he received in his office on Wall street a few days ago at the hands of Alphonse J. Stephani.

KANSAS CITY'S TREASURER SUSPENDED.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 21.—Mayor Holm has suspended City Treasurer Peake from office pending an investigation of the affairs of the treasurer's office. An examination of the books has been made, and it is far from clear that he has not discovered a shortage of from $17,000 to $20,000. Peake is under $100,000 bonds and the city is well secured.

MISSISSIPPI BUILDERS SENTENCED.

BROOKHAVEN, Miss., May 21.—Eight of the Lincoln county bulldozers were convicted at this term of court of horse-whipping and threatening a white woman. Three of the indicted were granted a new trial, but the other five were fined $100 each and sentenced to the county jail for three months.

Maria Wendell Found.

OAKLAND, Ill., May 21.—Maria Wendell, who so mysteriously disappeared about a week ago from her home, has been found. Her betrayer, it is alleged, is a wealthy citizen. The young girl, the story is told, was abducted by the wealthy man, and her whereabouts were not learned until to-day.

Stole $6,000 from Jay Gould.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Charles Lebrere, collector for the Western Union Telegraph company, has been arrested for embezzlement, and has confessed that during the past nine years he has embezzled $6,000 of the company's funds. He is 27 years old and has led a fast life.

Schweinfurth's Follower Expelled.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 21.—At the session of the general assembly of the Cumberland presbyterian church the judiciary committee reported on the case of Mrs. Ward of Kansas City, who had been tried for heresy in her presbytery and by the synod, and condemned. The charge against her is that she believes in the divinity of Jesus Christ, as he claims. The committee recommended that the former decisions be affirmed and that she be expelled from the church.

Novel Ground for a Damage Suit.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., May 21.—Papers have been served in the case of Max Weiss, administrator of the estate of George N. Weiss, deceased, against W. H. Post and Rachel Post, to recover damages to the amount of $20,000, on the claim that the death of the son of plaintiff was caused by a revolver sold the boy by the defendant.

Washington Kissed Her.

DETROIT, Mich., May 21.—Polly Crowl, Carlisle, born in New York in 1792, died here yesterday. She remembered very distinctly Gen. Lafayette's triumphant visit to this country and when a baby was kissed by and trotted on the knee of Gen. Washington.

Take Care of Your Eyes.

Dr. B. Miner, the eminent oculist of Detroit, Mich., will visit every town in this country during the winter. Any person suffering with weak eyes, or eyes abused by inferior glasses, should not fail to see him. Orders left at the post office will be promptly attended to. No extra charge for examining patients at their homes.

WORK OF THE PRESBYTERIANS.

What They Have Done in the Way of Home Missions.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 21.—In the Presbyterian general assembly Rev. Dr. A. G. Little, of Texas, chairman of the committee on home missions, read a report showing the great effect of the work done during the year and the increase in membership in churches in the West and New England. Missionaries have labored long and successfully among the Indians. The board organized two Sunday schools per day during the year and every second day a church. This was accomplished at an average cost of $150 per minister. In New Mexico and Texas many Roman Catholics are joining the presbyterian church. A strong appeal was made for an increase of effort among the Bohemians, Poles and other foreigners in Chicago and other large cities. The work of the woman's executive committee on home missions has been very thorough and effective. While the contributions of the churches during the year were $24,000, the work had raised $26,627. The total receipts for the year were $831,170. The deficit at the close of the year was $80,341, of which only $23,418.31 is chargeable to the missionary work proper.

PRESERVATION OF THE FORESTS.

The Boards of Health Recommend the Planting of Trees.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 21.—At the National Conference of the State Boards of Health Dr. P. H. Bryce of Canada read an interesting paper on the preservation of our forests as a national sanitary measure. Resolutions were adopted recommending that a survey be made of the gathering ground of our great rivers, to preserve and replant, if necessary, these acres with protective forest trees. Schools be established where the principles and practice of forest trees will be taught, towns and cities to form park associations for the planting of trees and obtaining of waste lands to be gradually reforested. Dr. Lee of Pennsylvania offered a resolution that this conference respectfully urge upon the subcommittee on forestry of the committee on Public Domains of the Congress of the United States to pass such laws as shall check the reckless destruction of trees on public lands. Dr. Benjamin Lee offered a resolution that all local boards of health should keep all cases of leprosy existing in their respective districts under surveillance.

LIQUOR MEN ON THE RAMPAGE.

Beer and Whisky Taken to the Kansas Capitol and Offered to State Officers.

TOWNS, Kan., May 21.—The dealers in original packages are becoming more and more bold and defiant. Six of them hired three carriages. In the rear seat of each two of the saloon men placed themselves. On the opposite side they placed kegs of beer and grouped around them original packages of whisky, brandy and wine. On the side beside the driver was placed a keg of beer, and on top of it a foaming glass of the beverage. Thus equipped they drove through the principal streets of the city and finally halted at the entrance of the capitol grounds and under the shadow of the State house. There they offered for sale to the State officers passing in and out their "original packages." Secretary of State Allen became so enraged that he telephoned to the chief of police to arrest the two saloon men for disturbing the peace. At the approach of the blue coats the saloon men drove away.

CITIZEN TRAIN'S TRIP.

He Hopes to Accomplish His Journey Round the World in Sixty-four Days.

CHICAGO, May 21.—George Francis Train, citizen and globe trotter extraordinary, arrived in Chicago over the Lake Shore road at 9:10 o'clock last night, sixty-one days out from Tacoma on his trip around the world. George Francis, with his party, was immediately taken over to the Northwestern station, and, after nearly two hours, which he occupied in talking of his trip to his numerous callers, boarded another train and fled to his quarters. He is now completing his circle of the earth. His way from Chicago lies over the Northwestern road to Omaha, thence over the Union Pacific to Tacoma, Wash., the end of his flight. Barring accident, the citizen will arrive in Tacoma at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, and will have put a girdle around the earth in just sixty-four days and three quarters.

Lottery Managers Frightened.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 21.—The lottery managers are still afraid to introduce their bill. They are, however, on the alert and are playing a waiting game. STEALING HIS CHUM'S SPEECH.

How General Hastings Used His Companion's Address at Sunday School.

This story is told in the Pittsburgh Dispatch about Adjutant General Hastings, "the hero of Johnston." When Hastings was a young man he and a friend of his named Yocum were invited to address a Sunday school a few miles from Bellefonte. Yocum and the general were friends and they roomed together. Hastings made no preparation but intended to speak as the spirit moved him. Yocum gave his subject much thought and finally wrote out a speech. The night before they were to make the addresses they were both in their room, when Yocum pulled out his manuscript and asked Dan's opinion of his composition. Now, Hastings has a remarkable memory, and when so inclined can retain almost anything he hears. Yocum read the speech and they finally agreed that Hastings should speak first. Arrived at the school next day a committee met them, and when they were asked if it made any difference who took the floor first, Yocum replied: "Oh, no, Hastings and I have settled that. He will be the first speaker." The general then delivered Yocum's speech, and the latter was paralyzed. He mangled, however, to make some blundering remarks, but his rage was furious. He wouldn't talk to Hastings for a long time, until friends began to notice the cold war. "That's the matter with you and Dan?" one of the boys asked Yocum. "You ask Hastings," he answered. "He played a mean trick on me, and I won't forget it." The joke finally leaked out, and everybody had a good laugh at Yocum's expense.

On the Lungs.

A well-known lecturer relates that on one occasion when he had been speaking in a country town, he returned to the house where he was to pass the night so hoarse that he could scarcely speak.

The good woman of the house, a kindly, fussy old lady, told him to call out as soon as he was in bed, and she would bring him a hot drink. She accordingly appeared with a black and bitter concoction of herbs, steaming and fragrant.

"There," she said, "just swallow some of this hot herb-tea; swallow it as quick as you can, and then flop onto your back before it has time to run away down, so it'll lay warm on your chest and heat your lungs, and you'll be all right in the morning."

The lecturer followed her orders, and was all right in the morning, but he declares that the experience upset all his ideas of human physiology.

The Honesty in Woman.

Did you ever notice that when a woman gets into a horse-car and the conductor fails to collect her fare she invariably hands it to him, as she leaves, asks a writer in a city paper. A man under the same circumstances will, in nine cases out of ten, quickly slip his little nickel in his pocket, and saying nothing about it, mentally pat himself on the back for his shrewdness.

John Robinson's circus and menagerie will exhibit in this city to-morrow, afternoon and evening.
Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., occupy Old Fellows' hall this evening—regular weekly meeting.
"That Swede" Company, seven in number, arrived this morning and are quartered at the Grand Hotel.
Miss Charlotte Prichard entertained a few friends very pleasantly at her home on South Main street last evening.

The Sea Side has the exclusive agency for Plow's celebrated Chicago candles. The only place in town that sells it.
Don't forget the concert by the Bower City Band to-night. It will be free and the corn exchange square will be packed.
Henry Bidwell has removed his barber shop from the corn exchange square to 215 West Milwaukee street, Commercial block.
The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad Company are putting in new sidewalks and plank between the tracks at the passenger depot.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society, of the Presbyterian church will be held at the home of Mrs. Geo. Metcalf, 120 Washington street, Friday afternoon 2 p. m. Plenty of work for all.
The Madison convocation, which is meeting with the Christ church, holds its missionary to-night at 7:30. All persons who are interested are cordially invited to be present, especially members of the Christ and Trinity churches.

Mr. A. C. Ford received a letter to-day from Harry J. Carle, of Denver, Col., announcing the death of his brother John, caused by falling from a train in Kentucky. He had been railroading for a number of years. His mother and sister reside with his brother Harry, at Denver.
The Concordia society gave one of their regular public parties at Concordia hall last night. Smith & Anderson's orchestra furnished the music and the festivities lasted until one o'clock this morning. The Concordia Society always gives the most enjoyable of parties and last night was no exception to the rule.

Yesterday Governor Hoad appointed the World's Fair Commissioners for Wisconsin, as follows: Philip Allen, Jr., republican, of Mineral Point, John L. Mitchell, democrat, of Milwaukee. Alternates: Geo. E. Gordon, republican, of Koshkonong; Myron Reed, democrat, of Superior. There was considerable rivalry among republicans regarding the commission, and a good many candidates; among the aspirants was Wm. T. Vankirk, of this city.

PERSONAL.

Rev. W. F. Brown is in Beloit to-day. Dr. Charles L. Clark left for Oconomowoc this morning.
M. G. Jeffris, Esq., is in Madison on professional business to-day.
Miss Amanda McNett, of Rockford, is in the city the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. Patch, 255 Glen street.
Mrs. Arthur Taylor, of Elgin, was the guest of Charles L. Fidelity, No. 108 Washington street yesterday.

Miss May E. Hubbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hubbell, town of Janesville, has just completed a very fine oil portrait of her sister, Miss Mattie. This is Miss Hubbell's first attempt at portrait painting, and shows remarkable skill as an artist—a credit to any lady. Miss Hubbell is quite an artist, as many beautiful sketches which adorn her home abundantly testify.

MADISON CONVOCATION.
Now in Session at Christ Episcopal Church—What They Are Doing To-day.
ABOUT THE MACHINE COMPANY MOVING TO AURORA.
Mrs. Day's Class Competing for Prizes—Frank O. Dickerson's Case—Minor Local Matters.
THE MADISON CONVOCATION.
Now in Session at Christ Episcopal Church—What They Are Doing.

The Madison convocation of Protestant Episcopal churches began its spring session in Christ church in this city yesterday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock with evening prayer and an admirable sermon by the Rev. Chas. T. Sisson, of Portage, on "The Church and the Faith." The preacher showed very plainly that the form of religious truth had been set forth in the time of the Apostles and had not been and could not be changed; and that those who had departed from it were now trying to get back to it. And finally that those who have known should stand up and use it for the development of the spiritual nature.

This morning at ten o'clock, morning prayer was said, and the Rev. Geo. P. Brigham preached a strong, practical sermon on the conflict of the church as compared with and illustrated by the children of Israel under Joshua, at noon the ladies of Christ church served a most elegant collation in the parish room.

This afternoon the discussion will be on methods of Lenten work and in the evening a sermon on the missionary work of the diocese.
The Revs. Messrs. Rogers, of Beloit; Sisson, of Portage, Chase, of Mineral Point; Brigham, of Sharon; Shildt, of Trinity, in this city; Holmes, of Delavan are present. The last named is accompanied by his daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Wells, of Delavan.

Dr. Durbin, of Grace church, Madison, was prevented from attending, by a sudden death in his parish.
The meeting has proved very enjoyable and profitable.

THE MACHINE COMPANY.

Aurora Offering Inducements to Secure the Removal of the Plant.
Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Harris, of the Janesville Machine Company, returned from Aurora yesterday. The citizens of Aurora are very desirous to secure the removal of the company's plant to that city, and offered some very liberal inducements. The question of location is very much to the advantage of the Illinois city, and freight rates on iron and fuel are extremely low. This, in connection with side track accommodations may have some influence with the Machine Company in making a decision. Aurora has the advantage of the "belt line road" which taps every railway entering Chicago, and manufacturers located on that line are thus enabled to secure freight rates not obtainable in less favorable localities.

President Jackson, of the Business Men's Association, has called a citizens' meeting at the rooms of the Business Men's Association, for Friday evening, which should be largely attended. Janesville can hardly afford to lose any of her manufacturing institutions, and an effort should be made to secure side tracks and freight rates that would place our city on an equitable basis with competing points. This can be done if properly handled, and when accomplished would be of great value to the city.
The meeting on Friday evening should be well attended.

EXPRESS APPRECIATION.

The Janesville Teachers Thankful to Prof. Mount for His Instruction.
The following communication addressed to the Board of Education is self explanatory.
To Hon. Body Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN: We wish to express to you our appreciation of the course of Normal Instruction in voice culture and music given by S. W. Mount. Mr. Mount voluntarily visited our school and inspected our grade work and then staped his instruction to our wants, kindly showing our faults and suggesting the remedy for them. By his training we now feel able to teach the subject more confidently and effectually. Through his devotion to the cause of teaching this particular subject, and his understanding of the work and the wants of the public school, we have been aided and benefited, as we confidently believe, in a degree which cannot be estimated in a monetary sense. In behalf of the Janesville teachers,
Respectfully,
BERTHA M. SAYLES,
MAUD SKILES,
Janesville, Wis., May 20th, 1890.

MASONIC NOTICE

THE WEATHER.

For Wisconsin—Cloudy Weather and Rain—Warmer—Southerly Winds.
At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 52 degrees above zero. Cloudy with south wind—light rain during night. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 63 degrees above zero. Cloudy with south wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 50 and 60 degrees above zero.

ON THE HOUSATONIC.

A Handsome Oil Painting at the Store of Wilkins & Stratton, North Main Street.
Mr. E. Fleckett has another fine oil painting on exhibition at the art store of Wilkins & Stratton, North Main street. It is a scene on the Housatonic, and is a remarkably fine piece of work, evidence that Mr. Fleckett is no novice. All admirers of art are cordially invited to call, and see this picture. The handsome picture of "Devil's Lake" by the same artist, which was on exhibition in some days, was purchased by Mr. J. M. Bostwick, of this city.

COMPETING FOR PRIZES.
Mrs. J. B. Day's Pupils Gave an Excellent Entertainment Last Night.
Lappin's Opera House was comfortably filled last evening by a large and appreciative audience who had congregated to listen to the prize recitations by the pupils of Mrs. Janet B. Day. The class numbered twelve in all and their work showed much study and care on the part of their teacher.

Part one opened with a recitation from Harper's Monthly, entitled, "Whistling in Heaven." It was recited in an excellent manner by Miss Etta Brown.
Number two was a recitation by John F. Day, entitled, "Daddy Elice's Speech." Master Day showed the excellent instruction given him by his mother and his recitation was loudly applauded.
Number three was "The Tell Tale," a bird song and was rendered in a natural manner by Louise Crosby. Her imitation of the bird's singing was quite real.

Miss Flo Shaw and Miss Stella Tuckwood then sang a duet. Their voices blended nicely and they received an encore but responded only by bowing.

Number four was a humorous selection, "How I Tended the Baby" and was recited by Jacob A. Fisher. His rendition of the piece provoked frequent laughter and received prolonged applause.

Number five—"The Ride in the Cone-mough Valley," by Miss Mabel Hopkins, was one of the best of the evening. She described the horrors of the Johnstown flood in a realistic manner and was loudly applauded.

Number six was a recitation by Willis Otis, entitled "St. Michael's." Master Otis spoke with splendid expression and was loudly applauded.

Then came the drill in relaxing exercises, the hand, arm, head, body and limbs. They were all nicely executed, the drollery element in particular.
Number seven was a recitation and song "The Last Hymn" by Stella Tuckwood. This was a splendid number, and was loudly applauded.

Number eight was a recitation by Arthur M. Fisher. He took for his subject "Wendell Phillips." "Tossaint L'Overture," and recited it in a splendid manner. His expression and gestures were good.

Number nine was a recitation by Miss Jessie Brown. Her subject was Will Carlton's poem, "The School Master's Guests," and was nicely rendered.

Number ten was Whittier's "Skipper Ireson's Ride" by Miss Flo B. Shaw. and was splendidly executed. Miss Shaw has a fine voice, and can use it to advantage. This was the best number on the programme.

Number eleven was Artemus Ward's "Mormon Lecture," and was well recited by John C. Fisher. It was quite humorous, and was loudly applauded.

Number twelve was a recitation by Miss Lou Fenton, entitled "Mabel Martin," by John G. Whittier. It was nicely read, and received liberal applause.

Miss Stella Tuckwood then sang another song, which was well received, after which there was the drill with poles. The movements were quite graceful and were a decided novelty.

The committee of judges, consisting of Dr. J. B. Whiting, Mrs. J. L. Ford and Mr. M. G. Jeffris, then awarded the prizes. Dr. Whiting stated that the performers were known to them only by number, and he could not, therefore, announce the names of those who had won prizes, but would give out the numbers as follows: Number ten, (Miss Flo B. Shaw) first prize; number eight, (Arthur M. Fisher) second, and number twelve and seven, (Lou Fenton and Miss Stella Tuckwood) tied for third.

Mrs. Day stated that as the judges could not decide as to which won third prize she would give them each one.
First prize was a gold medal, second, a silver medal and third a book. Dr. Whiting in presenting the prizes to those who had won them, paid Mrs. Day a handsome compliment for her excellent instruction.

THE LAUGHING JACKASS.

He Laughs Spontaneously, Irresistibly Contagiously When He Feels Like It. Sizable as he is, as big as a rook, and tame and sluggish as his habits, it might be thought that the laughing jackass would become an easy mark for the gun-loving Australian, yet in many of even the wildest districts he is quite a common sight. The chief reason of this immunity from harm lies in the recognition of the good he renders to the community by wagging war against the snake. Certainly Jack is carnivorous, and therefore not good eating, and he also preserves himself to some extent by building his nest in not easily reached holes in gum trees. Anyhow he manages to live and grow numerous.

To look at him you would never think Jack was the merry soul he is. His looks are as solid as his build, and he has a slow, solemn way of taking life excepting when he is on the laugh. Most of his time is spent among the timber that clothes the sides and bottom of the gullies, and over which everywhere intersect and encircle the rounded hills.

Here, at almost any time of the day, from an hour or two after sunrise till when Sol begins to get his rays milder, he will be seen with the fardant tail swells as he packs down for the night. Jack may be found holding Quaker meetings for his kindred, or in some big gum tree, or doing his best to keep his stomach full. Never does he hurry himself, and he would as soon think of leaving his perch because a stranger happened to appear as he would of groaning.

Very seldom is Jack stirred to mirth during the middle portion of the day, indeed, it would appear as if some toward event was necessary to stir him up properly other than at the two extremes. In the heat of the day it is no unusual thing to be startled by the noise of the limb of a gum tree going thundering down (the severe heat is the cause, I think), and then before the oppressive silence of the bush has been fairly restored, for a laugh to ring out as an echo.

Again, it sometimes happens that the firing of a gun is the signal for an outbreak of wild cacklings. Jack is gifted with considerable curiosity, and I have had him lay around in some adjacent tree watching a lone fellow and getting quite an amount of chuckling fun out of the crash of the toppling trees. Almost anything out of the common run is incentive enough to raise Jack's temper to the laughing point. But morning and night are the seasons to hear him to perfection; he then laughs spontaneously, irresistibly and contagiously.

FRANK O. DICKERSON.
Now Serving a Life Sentence—An Application for His Pardon.
The publication of the legal notice that an application would be made to the governor for the pardon of Frank O. Dickerson, has revived memories of the murder of George Mack, in the town of Turtle, on July 15th, 1878. The fact that Mrs. Mack, who was considered the principal in the horrible crime, is now a free woman, has caused many people to express sympathy for Dickerson, as he was only considered an accomplice in the crime. Many people in the city favor the granting of a pardon, while many others, not wishing to express so strong a feeling, will not oppose the pardon. The State Journal alludes to the case as follows:

"One of the most interesting and in many ways sensational criminal cases ever disposed of in this state will be reviewed by application to be made to Governor Hoad June 1st next, for a pardon for Frank O. Dickerson, who is serving a life term in the penitentiary. In 1878 Dickerson was in the employ of George Mack, a farmer of good circumstances living in the town of Turtle, near Janesville. On the morning of Sunday, July 15, of that year, Mack's dead body was found in the stable, appearances being such as to indicate that he had entered a horse stall and been kicked to death by a horse. The authorities did not think this theory the correct one, however, and commenced an inquiry which seemed to result in showing that Mack had been murdered, and his body placed in the stall to conceal the crime. Suspicion was directed toward Dickerson and Mrs. Mack, wife of the dead man, and they were arrested, charged with murder. The case claimed, and at the trial introduced testimony intended to prove that Dickerson and Mrs. Mack loved each other, and we continue to terms; that they conspired to remove Mack that they might marry, and that the death of Mack was the result of this alleged conspiracy. The trial was the most remarkable ever witnessed in Rock county and attracted widespread attention. It resulted in a verdict of guilty in the case of Dickerson, and on May 26, 1879, after the usual delays, he was sentenced to the penitentiary. Mrs. Mack, however, escaped the fate of her alleged accomplice, although the state, in presenting its case, had held that she was the principal and Dickerson the accessory. On what ground the pardon will be asked for is not known. The matter is in the hands of Angie J. King, the Janesville lawyer, who will appear before the governor at the time named and make her plea. It is expected that the people of Janesville will stoutly oppose the granting of a pardon."

FOX BROTHERS ARSON CASE.

Still on Trial Before Judge Bennett and Will Take Several Days More.
The case of the state against Fox Brothers is still occupying the attention of Judge Bennett. The state has rested their case and the defense began. The witnesses for the state put the value of the stock of goods destroyed at between seven and eight hundred dollars, while the defendants expect to prove that they were valued at about three thousand dollars. The defense have some thirty witnesses to examine and the trial will probably consume two or three days more.

MUNICIPAL COURT.

Joseph Hutter Arranged, and His Examination Fixed For Tuesday, May 27th.
In the municipal court yesterday afternoon, Joseph Hutter was before Justice M. S. Prichard, who is acting as municipal judge during the sickness of Judge Patterson, charged with burglary with attempt to commit larceny. His examination was set for Tuesday, May 27. His bail was fixed at $500, and is default he will linger at the Rock county jail.
